One by one the cadets at the Rockville Academy are increasing in number. This is a matter of delight to the many who revere the old institution of learning. Another young man recently entered the school, in the person of John O. Young, son of Mr. Robert Young, of Buck Lodge, this county. Major Thomas, the principal, has a high admiration for his band of youngsters. He is attracted to them by their studious habits, followed by marked improvement, and their gentlemanly conduct. And their progress in military instruction is not less noticeable—it is equal to that made in other branches of study. Today at 2 P. M. the student body will go through some public literary exercises at the school and then be given a Christmas holiday until the 2nd of January. In the meantime Major Thomas and his wife will visit friends in St. Mary's county, Md.
